Projections and win % are Sleeper's, captured Oct. 21. Byes and injured starters show as 0.00 until managers fix them.

The Lead Story

Week 7 opens Thursday night with NE at CHI, and eight starting slots across five rosters currently project at zero: three on NathanR918 (R. White, D. Kincaid, J. Meyers), two on hogsett7 (an empty DEF slot and M. Evans), and one each on JLozoya (O. Hampton), 00sef (K C. Little) and Zaniac18 (Jaguars DEF). BUF, JAX, LAC and WAS are on bye in these lineups.

The two 5-1 teams are on different ends of the board. Whodatjuan is a 74% favorite over Karrrobi (140.78 to 105.85), and Raymond49 has the week's highest projection (148.67) against JLozoya. The most even game is mattware1199 against 00sef, 133.97 to 134.64, a 50/50 split with the week's highest combined total (268.61). The biggest line is Zaniac18 over NathanR918, 40.36 points at 85%.

Monday night is DAL at PHI, and it touches both Caullyn and satiro in a game Sleeper has at 46/54.

MARQUEE MATCHUP

Whodatjuan Looks to Stay on Top Against Karrrobi

Whodatjuan (5-1) projects at 140.78 after Week 6's 152.46, the highest score of the week. J. Smith-Njigba (23.54, Sunday night at SEA) leads the lineup, and C. Brown (14.88), acquired in the Brown-for-Jacobs trade, starts at RB. The empty DEF slot from Week 6 now has the 49ers (6.86).

Karrrobi (3-3) is at 105.85, a 26% underdog, with two Questionable starters: QB L. Jackson (21.97) and TE T. Hockenson (9.58). Its Week 6 score of 130.80 was its season high, so the ceiling is higher than the projection.
