Week 1 Power Rankings

Ranked by points scored and quality of opponent faced · Graded on a fixed points scale

One week of data, but a loud one. Two teams that graded out near the bottom of the preseason draft report sit 1-2 here, while two of the three best-graded rosters in the league landed in the bottom half after both drew unlucky matchups. Rank order weighs total points scored first, then who a team had to face to get there. Grades are a fixed scale applied directly to each team's raw score, independent of rank or opponent.

160+	150–159	140–149	130–139	120–129	110–119	100–109	90–99	80–89	79 or less

Full Rankings

Whodatjuan — “the big benny yahu”

174.02 pts · W, beat NathanR918 by 107.36 · Preseason draft grade: B-

1

The week's biggest riser, full stop. D'Andre Swift (32.40, 3 TD), Jaxon Smith-Njigba (26.20), and a monster Kenneth Walker III Monday (34.10) add up to the week's highest score — against an opponent that never showed up. Graded B- preseason; this is one of the largest gaps between draft grade and Week 1 output in the league.

A+

Raymond49 — “Pearsall's Second Shot”

169.90 pts · W, beat satiro by 68.80 · Preseason draft grade: C+

The single biggest preseason-to-Week-1 jump in the league. Ashton Jeanty and Bijan Robinson both topped 31 points, and Evan McPherson added a 19-point kicker day. Graded C+ in the draft report — the extra RB depth already looks like it's paying off.

A+

Zaniac18 — “Benny and The JJets”

169.16 pts · W, beat 00sef by 20.00 · Preseason draft grade: B

Right about where the B grade said it would be. Isaiah Likely and Justin Jefferson carried the week, and the win came against a 00sef roster that scored the 6th-most points in the league — this wasn't a product of a weak opponent.

A+

JLozoya — “Ryan Flournoy”

157.16 pts · W, beat hogsett7 by 54.96 · Preseason draft grade: B-

4

A comfortable week statistically, clouded by the A.J. Brown injury. Caleb Williams' four-touchdown day and the newly acquired Omarion Hampton both delivered. Worth watching whether the receiver room can hold up without Brown in Week 2.

A

Caullyn — “Romosexual Tendencies”

152.20 pts · W, beat mattware1199 by 45.84 · Preseason draft grade: C

Tied for the biggest jump in the league, powered by Trevor Lawrence's four touchdowns and Trey McBride's breakout tight end day. The irony: the roster move of the week (dropping Kaleb Johnson, the draft's highest-graded value pick) happened on this same roster.

00sef — “real njigbas”

149.16 pts · L, lost to Zaniac18 by 20.00 · Preseason draft grade: C

The week's clearest case of bad luck. 00sef scored the 6th-most points in a 12-team league and still lost, running into Zaniac18's best week. Puka Nacua's situation resolved quietly — active, productive (12.40), not the fireworks the headlines implied.

A-

Jer13 — “Jer13”

114.44 pts · W, beat Karrobi by 0.98 · Preseason draft grade: B+

The best-graded roster in the league heading into the season, and it took the smallest possible margin to escape Week 1 with a win. Jahmyr Gibbs was excellent (33.60); a -1.00 defensive score from Houston very nearly cost the game.

B-

Karrobi — “Eight Games to Life”

113.46 pts · L, lost to Jer13 by 0.98 · Preseason draft grade: B+

8

The second-best-graded roster in the league, and the week's biggest disappointment by that measure. Derrick Henry was outstanding (35.30), but a Kyle Pitts zero at tight end was the difference in a game decided by less than a point.

Bmattware1199 — “Dan Smith”

106.36 pts · L, lost to Cullynn by 45.84 · Preseason draft grade: B-

A quiet week beyond Zay Flowers' 150-yard game. Nothing alarming here beyond the scoreline — this roster graded B- and performed like a slightly-below-average team, which is more consistency than most of the league showed.

C

hogsett7 — “HeroGma”

102.20 pts · L, lost to JLozoya by 54.96 · Preseason draft grade: C-

10

The lowest-graded roster in the preseason report, and it played to form — no real surprise here. Christian McCaffrey (“My only hope”) was fine, not spectacular, and nothing else on the roster stepped up.

C

satiro — “Team satiro”

101.10 pts · L, lost to Raymond49 by 68.80 · Preseason draft grade: C

11

No player on the roster topped 19 points, and the loss wasn't particularly close at any point. A C grade projected middle-of-the-pack; this was a bottom-three week instead.

C

NathanR918 — “Fire Jerry”

66.66 pts · L, lost to Whodatjuan by 107.36 · Preseason draft grade: C+

12

The week's biggest faller by a wide margin. Caleb Williams individually outscored this entire roster's other nine starters combined. Ja'Marr Chase's quiet game (3.20) and zeros at tight end and two bench spots left nothing to work with.

F-

Rank order methodology: ranked primarily by total points scored in Week 1, with placement adjusted for quality of opponent faced — a team that outscored a high-scoring opponent ranks above a team that beat a low-scoring one with a similar total (see 00sef, #6, which scored more than five higher-ranked teams but still lost). Grade methodology: a fixed scale applied directly to each team's raw Week 1 score (160+ = A+, 150-159 = A, 140-149 = A-, 130-139 = B+, 120-129 = B, 110-119 = B-, 100-109 = C, 90-99 = D, 80-89 = F, 79 or less = F-), independent of rank, opponent, or preseason draft grade.
